
Home Grown Strawberries In November?

Members of The Times-Virginian staff enjoyed 'nibbling' on home-grown, garden-fresh strawberries on Friday morning of last week. Not only did Mrs. Lorene Brown, shown above, bring the basket of berries but she brought along a strawberry plant containing ripened berries . . just in case there were any Doubting Thomases around! The berries and the plant came from the garden of Mrs. Brown's mother, Mrs. Annie Wilkerson Steele of Buckingham. 'The berries were unusually sweet and delicious. The plant? Guess who's taking it home and planting it in a pot? She's hoping for home-grown strawberries for Christmas!

Special awards to top winners will be made available by the Pamplin Ruritan Club.

Then And Now

Bargain Days In Dillwyn

It's always interesting to look through old pictures, newspapers, and such; it's fun to see just how much things have changed, especially the prices!

One of my co-workers, Mrs. Lorene Brown, brought me what seems to be four sheets of newspaper; it's just the size of a newspaper but there are no date lines or anything else to indicate the name of the paper or the year it was printed. All of the copy is advertisement for R. L. Childress Store in Dillwyn. It may have been a 'flyer' or insert to a newspaper. Whatever it is, the prices of advertised items lead me to believe it must have been a long time ago! Just listen.....

It was a Winter Clearance Sale and scheduled to last for eight days. It assured the customer that "prices are slashed", "bargains galore" and "now is the time to buy".....

Men's Leather Palm Gauntlets made of good grade yellow split cowhide palm, with 8 ounce white flannel backs and inside fleece lining, reinforced cuffs. Sale price? Only 9 cents a pair; they had originally been all of 15 cents a pair. Now who could afford to pass up a bargain like that?

As long as the men could get a good buy in gloves, they might as well buy a supply of "Union Suits" too. Long sleeve, ankle length with ribbed cuffs and ankles only 40 cents a pair. While the man of that day was laying in a supply of "Union Suits" he might as well stock up on Bib Overalls at the low price of 47 cents. They were good weight, dark blue denim.

Suede Cloth Shirts were a good buy back Then....49 cents for Men's Heavy Weight suede cloth shirts. There were sheep-lined coats for men for $3.89 and fancy socks, 20% wool for 9 cents a pair; men's dress ties for 9 cents each and a heavy-duty sweater for $1.39. To top it all off the gentleman of that day could purchase a felt hat, fur felt, no less, with rayon-silkining and silk hatband for 89 cents. Now that we have the gentlemen pretty well outfitted, let's take a look at what was on sale at this store for the ladies.....

Every lady of that day loved a new hat and all she needed was 49 cents for a Genuine Italian felt, close-fitting and brim styles. For those 'unmentionables'.....bloomers, the price was only 19 cents for fine grade rayon in peach and flesh color. Double crotch with elastic knee and waist!

Ladies shoes were on sale; Black Kid Ties with Arch Supports for only $1.39 and for that new dress she had been longing for there was 36-inch Vat Dye Dress Prints for 9 cents a yard; let's see, that would make the average dress cost between 27 cents and 36 cents not counting the thread and buttons. Of course, if one wanted a more expensive dress the material was 10 cents a yard and even Poulard for 12 cents or for' those who could afford such luxury, Satin Finish Prints for 15 cents a yard.

If the lady of the house back Then just didn't have the time to sew a dress for herself, she could purchase one 'ready-made' for 87 cents. if she had the 87 cents!

Sale time at the Childress Store was a good time to 'spruce up' the house a bit. There were lots of bargains. Genuine "Roanoke" sheeting was only 3 cents a yard or 10 yards for 27 cents; face towels at 3 cents each, 14 x 27 inches and bleached snowy white too! To keep out the winter chill there were blankets 70 x 84 Plaid for 57 cents single and 98 cents double; they were cotton twill with a choice of colors.

For the 'company bedroom there were 'store-bought' sheets, fully bleached for only 37 cents. Outing flannel was 7 cents a yard and pillow tubing was 17 cents a yard. For the quilting bees there was the one-pound package of "Betsy Ross" Quilt patches for 23 cents.

There were savings all around at the Childress Store especially since a standard 'Big Chief" school tablet and a 5 cents pencil could both be bought for only 4 cents.

This advertisement tells us one thing.....The R. D. Childress Store was the place to shop if you wanted to save money! Although Lloyd Vaughan believes this paper was part of the Appomattox Buckingham Times we don't know the year it was printed. Do any of you Times-Virginian readers remember prices such as these? Better be careful.....you just might reveal your age!
